

Savan Group Cited as One of ‘Seven To Watch in 2011 and Beyond’

ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA, April 11, 2011 – Savan Group has been named one of ‘Seven to Watch in 2011 and beyond’ in the March/April issue of Consulting Magazine. The Magazine’s Judges lauded Savan Group’s focus on the public sector, “specifically helping clients achieve sustainable success by solving critical management, organizational, technical and operational challenges. From humble beginnings, the firm has experienced a whopping 250 percent growth over the last two years.” Savan Group was one of more than fifty firms to be nominated for the award.

Veeral Majmudar, President and CEO of Savan Group, responded to the award with the following statement, “On behalf of everyone at Savan Group, we are proud and humbled by Consulting Magazine’s recent selection of our firm to the list of “Seven to Watch”. More importantly, we recognize this accomplishment would not have been possible without the continued support of our clients and partners and the dedication of our employees.”

This year, Savan Group has continued to expand its footprint in the federal government, adding work with the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to an already impressive list of Government clients. President and CEO Veeral Majmudar cites Savan Group’s foundation of value-based consulting as an integral element of the firm’s success. “Value-based consulting is driven by strategy, tactics, and results,” Mr. Majmudar said. “Our consultants realize that in real life, situations and organizational dynamics are complex and fluid and the project approach must reflect that complexity and dynamism. This requires an adaptive response capability rather than a rigidly predetermined project plan. We believe our customized approach to our client’s needs is the key to Savan Groups continued success.”
